Attendance Day #82

GENERAL

Congratulations to Abby Crede who was crowned Homecoming Queen Saturday night.

All Homecoming Candidates need to take your campaign posters, etc. down ASAP.

All hallway homecoming decorations need to be taken down ASAP.

ATTENDANCE: If you are going to be absent from any class this week and will miss the final, please see your teacher ASAP to make arrangements to take it.

Grades 9-12: Your semester 1 grades are the grades that will be posted to your transcript. Your transcript grades will determine your GPA. For this reason, if you see a problem with your grade in any class you need to bring it to your teacher's attention immediately.

REMINDER: Students, this is the time of year several of you are scrambling to get doctors excuses, etc. for absences you have incurred since the start of school. Keep in mind you should be submitting doctor/dentist excuses each time you have an appointment. Submitting one each time saves from having to backtrack and get them at the end of the semester.

GUIDANCE

Juniors interested in a medical career: Consider attending the MU Mini Medical School June 17-21 or June 24-28. Explore different careers, interact with medical staff and students, do some hands-on work with anatomy, microbiology and clinical skills, participate in social activities. Cost is $600 but there are some scholarships. Applications will be available in January, and they do fill up! Go to <https://medicine.missouri.edu/education/pre-med-outreach-programs/mini-medical-school/> for more information or to apply.

Juniors with a 3.0 GPA: Consider attending the Public Affairs Academy at MSU-Springfield July 7-14. The MPAA has three main goals: To help students understand their role as citizens working "for the greater good," to let students meet with community leaders, and to provide students with the leadership skills necessary to become actively involved in their communities. Cost: FREE! There is a $50 application fee that can be waived with proof of financial difficulties. So your parents don't even have to feed you for a week! Apply by March 1 at publicaffairs.missouristate.edu. Apply early, as this one fills up fast! Christmas break????
